

Who Supports Official English?

For more than two decades, Americans from every part of the country and from every demographic background have enthusiastically declared their support for making English the official language of government. From the ballot box to the legislative floor, official English has received popular support as an idea that both creates smart legislative policy and benefits all residents.

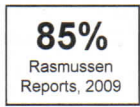

Democrats

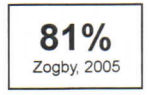

Republicans

Independents

First and Second Generation Americans

Hispanic-Americans

